ABSTRACT

Arena Simulation has just unveiled its latest and greatest update; a brand new interface. We've maintained the same look and feel you've learned all of these years, while incorporating many tools and layouts to enhance the usability of our software. Also included are new features that enhance the speed of your simulation such as multi-core technology. We invite you to take a tour with our software experts as we do a full review of Arena's new interface and other tools that continue to make us the fastest option available.
